Direct Market Ordering Catalog for Products Shipping in April and Beyond

Hello comic retailers and fans!

Welcome to PRH Panels, the Penguin Random House catalog for the Direct Market, highlighting the incredible graphic novels, manga, games, and more that debut every month. We can't wait for you to find the next story to inspire and entertain you, and the latest games and gifts to bring you together.

Our Comics section features Lester of the Lesser Gods #1, the new post-apocalyptic comedy from The Goon's Eric Powell and comedian and voice actor Lucky Yates. Lester, the larping son of the Odin, wanders the post-apocalyptic wasteland after thwarting Satan's attempt to bring about the end of days. But can this hero of the downtrodden survive the battle arena of Will Frye the Technomancer Guy?

In our Graphic Novels section, we're spotlighting Operation Sunshine Volume 1: Blood Run, the action packed horror series from the hosts of The Last Podcast on the Left, Henry Zebrowski and Marcus Parks, and Black Hammer's David Rubin. A group of young, alienated vampires known as "bugs" plot to steal a magical object from ancient monstrous vampires to turn themselves back to human. Along the way they uncover a sprawling monster underground, a top-secret plot run by the elder creatures, elite militant vampire slayers, and madness beyond imagining blocking their path to humanity.

Our Kids & YA section spotlights a brand-new story with an iconic character in Dr. Seuss Graphic Novel: Cat Out of Water. This graphic novel companion to the classic story is the first in a new line of Dr. Seuss graphic novels. It's a normal day with normal chores for Sally and her brother...until everything turns topsy-turvy when the Cat in the Hat arrives! With a whirlwind of fun, and the hilarious but chaotic antics of Thing 1 and Thing 2, the day promises to be anything but boring.

Our Manga, Manhwa, & Manhua section includes My Love Story with Yamada-kun at Lv999 Volume 1. This romantic comedy is perfect for fans of other josei and shojo manga like Wotakoi: Love is Hard for Otaku and Monthly Girls' Nozaki-kun. College student Akane has just been dumped by her boyfriend. In an online game she meets Yamada, an elite pro gamer so reclusive that she can't decide if he's awkward or alluring. When Akane encounters her ex at a gaming convention, she makes the snap decision to pretend Yamada is her boyfriend. Soon the two of them are spending time together both in the game and in real life.

In our Games & Gift section we're featuring Dark Horse's first ever table top roleplaying game, Lancer TTRPG Core Rulebook in which players take on the role of pilots of modular mechs 15,000 years in the future. This core rulebook features all the rules and lore players need to run a game. Lancer is perfect for any fan of giant robots and TTRPG veterans looking for a new game to check out.

All this and much, much more can be found in this month's PRH Panels. Don't hesitate to explore this catalog and find the perfect new book! A Journey Through Growing Up,
Grieving & Turning Pain into Diamonds

Celeste Mountjoy makes art that explores anxiety, feminism, addiction, body image, relationships, and power. With uncanny precision, it articulates the dark stuff we feel but dare not show. Mountjoy has become a voice for a generation of women who are ambivalent about the absurd, sometimes harrowing, path to adulthood. In her debut book, she tells razor-sharp stories and shares never-before-seen illustrations that walk us through the twistiest parts of growing up, from encountering creepy old men and dealing with grief to getting really drunk and existential.

Lancer TTRPG Core Rulebook

Written by TOM PARKINSON-MORGAN and MIGUEL LOPEZ

A Mud-and-Lasers Tabletop Roleplaying Game of Modular Mechs and the Pilots that crew them. Created in partnership with Massif Press, Dark Horse Books presents LANCER.

15,000 years into the future, humanity has survived near collapse and since expanded ever wider into the frontiers of space, organized by UNION, the central hegemon of the populated galaxy. At Union's heart, the dream of human utopia has been realized; but Lancer is set at the trembling edges of the expansion where resistance to the ideals of the utopia grow.

As a lancer, you pilot a mech as unique as yourself. You are, by training, luck, circumstance, or work, one of the best. In this era near the golden age, you have one question to answer above all: who do you fight for?

Lancer features a deep, story-rich setting for players to engage with. Every choice they make, every ordnance they mount, every weapon they wield—all of it has lore attached, just waiting for a story to develop.

INTERIOR PAGES FROM Lancer TTRPG Core Rulebook

VALID TARGETS
The following are valid targets for attacks and effects:

- other characters;
- objects that aren't held or worn, and aren't part of a mech;
- spaces in the environment or on the ground.

To attack or take an action against a target, by default the target must be within RANGE, SENSORS, or THREAT (as appropriate for the type of attack) and within the attacker's line of sight (unless otherwise specified, characters can't target themselves).

LINE OF SIGHT
Characters can only attack or take action against targets that they can see, at least partially. If it's not possible to trace a line to some part of a target – perhaps because it's completely blocked by cover or terrain – then they can't be attacked.

Line of sight doesn't imply visibility alone, but also a clear path for your attack – line of effect. Even if you can somehow see an area that's behind a solid wall (using a remote drone, for example), you can't attack targets within.

ARCING WEAPONS are designed to lob projectiles over obstacles. They can be used to attack targets without line of sight, although they are still affected by cover and this attack must be physically possible – an ARCING weapon still can't fire through 50 feet of meter bulkhead. Powerful SENSING weapons completely ignore cover and line of sight, as long as it is physically possible to reach the target. SENSING weapons are usually self-guided, self-propelled, and able to navigate complex environments.

INVISIBILITY
Some characters are able to turn INVISIBLE. INVISIBLE characters can still be seen or detected by heat patterns and some visual abilities, but they are extremely hard to target – all attacks, regardless of type, have a 50 percent chance to miss outright, before an attack roll is made. Roll a die or flip a coin to determine if the attack misses. Additionally, INVISIBLE characters can always HIDE, even without cover.

GM TOOLKIT

This toolkit offers some tools for creating interesting scenarios or environments for your players to go through. You will learn how to customize your game by adding NPCs and changing, adding, or adjusting some of the game's core rules and concepts.

CORE ASSUMPTIONS

Lancer's rules make some big assumptions about the fictional world in which your game takes place. Depending on the story you're telling, those things might not be relevant to your campaign. If you want to tweak these assumptions, it's entirely up to you.

ACCESS TO PRINTERS

In a typical Lancer campaign, pilots almost always have access to printers they can use to build new mechs. But this might not be the case in your campaign! Maybe the PCs are outlaws or renegades with limited access to resources. Maybe the printers they would use is broken or damaged. Maybe they're operating on the fringes of civilization, where any kind of technology is hard to come by. Or maybe the setting doesn't have printers, and mechs need to be built and maintained the old way.

The ability to print a mech allows players to get back in the game, so to speak, when their mechs are destroyed. As a result, taking away printers can have a pretty significant impact on your campaign. However, remember that, as long as a mech is partly intact and accessible, pilots can repair and rebuild their mech completely whenever they perform a Full Repair, regardless of whether they have a printer or not.

If pilots don't have a printer and their mech is destroyed or inaccessible, there is another option they can use: Power at a Cost to find people, materials, workshops, and other necessary resources for constructing a mech manually. Building a mech could also be a downtime activity.

CHARACTER DEATH

By default, pilots are tough. Not only do they go Down and Out when they reach 0 HP instead of dying, but players also have the option of bringing back copies of dead characters. Here are some optional rules you can use if you want to have a slightly higher level of lethality.

- If a pilot takes more damage than their maximum HP from a single attack after ARMOR, they're dead, no matter what. It's just a cost, that's it. No pinning or revitalization.
- If a mech takes 2 structure damage or more from a single attack, it's destroyed, no matter what.

If you want a game to be truly deadly, ignore the Down and Out rule entirely – if reduced to HP, a pilot is dead. Make sure you know what kind of game your players and you are playing before acting on this sort of rule.

Section 5 // The GM's Toolkit [266]

SITREPS

Many battles are simple affairs, with two sides facing off against each other until one of them is broken or destroyed. But sometimes you might want to add additional objectives or deaths to a combat scenario. That's where sitreps come in.

Sitrep is the military abbreviation of "situation report." In Lancer, a sitrep is a tool that helps you create and map out specific combat scenarios, featuring deployment zones, objectives, and potential avenues of enemy approach. This makes mech combat a more tactical experience, not unlike a wargame.

There are six sitreps outlined here, each of which can be used as-is or adjusted to fit your narrative: Escort, Control, Extraction, Holdout, Guarded, and Recon.

Most of these sitreps assume a roughly rectangular map no longer than about 40 spaces on its longest side. You will also need to fill the map with terrain or cover – some sitreps give specific instructions about this, but the rest is up to you.

KEY TERMS

- Allied Deployment Zone (ADZ): The starting point for the PCs and their allied NPCs, unless otherwise noted.
- Control Zone (CZ): An area that must be defended or controlled.
- Enemy Deployment Zone (EDZ): The starting point for the hostile NPCs.
- Extraction Zone (EZ): A place PCs need to reach to successfully complete certain objectives.
- Ingress Zone (IZ): The starting point for any hostile reinforcements.
- Objective: An object or person that the players must reach and interact with.
- Reinforcements: NPC forces that don't begin on the field, but can arrive later in an IZ.
